

of Mrs. E. T. Robinson.

The week at the Woman's Club included the usual Fortnight Tea on Monday afternoon, and a lecture or informal talk on "The Kindergarten" by Miss Fairchild, of Boston, on Thursday night. For the first, Mrs. Isaac Davenport was Chairman, but was unable to be present. All the duties of reception, therefore, fell to Mrs. Randolph Tatum and Miss Mary Mabie Pleasant, in whose hands they became particularly pleasant. Conversation and tea made up the programme, the first being largely regarding Miss Fairchild's lecture on Thursday night. There was the usual response to the announcement of the Tea in full parlors throughout the city.

Mrs. Edmund C. Minor was Chairman for Friday night, of whose interesting features detailed report has already been given in a preceding issue. In her introduction Mrs. Minor took graceful occasion to show Miss Childs brilliant competency to discuss her subject by a statement of conclusive facts regarding the way in which her eight years active interest in the work have been passed. She is now "trained in the Boston Normal School of Kindergarten"—certainly a sufficient tribute. She has held that position for the past three years. The five previous days Fairchild and Curtis left on Friday for two days' visit at Shirley, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Robert Carter.

Miss Lizzie Kent, of Wytheville, daughter of Lieutenant-Governor Kent, is the guest of Miss Henning, south Third street.

Diligent attention has been paid in preceding issues to the interesting meeting of the Current Events Class (Mrs. Caskie Cabell), with Mr. Isenm delightfully prominent.

The interesting presentation of the character of Henry Fifth, by Miss Blair to the members of her class for Shakespeare study has also been reported.

Mrs. R. Carter Welford, of Suhine Hall, is the guest of her sister, Miss B. Rand Welford, east Grace street.

The Tuesday German presented its usual diverting attractions to the usual set. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evelyn Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Hobson, Mr. Austin Brockenbrough, Mr. and Mrs. Geer, of Troy, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Rufin.

There was no special effort in the di-

The Junior Hollywood Memorial Association announces with particular pleasure that during Easter week a lecture upon the Cuban war will be delivered under its auspices by a gentleman who was an eye witness of much that will present to his audience. The lecture will be fully illustrated.

Miss McTier, of Paris, a sister of Miss Penelope McTier, of Queenbridge, England, is the guest of Mrs. Edward Mayo.

At half-past one, on Tuesday, Mrs. Reginald Gilliam entertained a party at luncheon in honor of Misses Fairchild and Curtis, of Boston.

Ferns constituted the telling floral decoration of the table. Those present were Mrs. Ben Purcell, Miss Virginia Pleasant, Mrs. Edmund C. Minor, Miss Carrie Minor, Miss Little Pleasant, Misses Fairchild and Curtis.

The Life classes at the Art Club continue to grow in numbers and interest, with Messrs. E. V. Valentine and Hawkins as critics.

On Thursday evening, 5 to 7, Mrs. Edmund Strudwick entertained a large part of the local fashionable set and about thirty strangers at a tea; at 8 o'clock a number of gentlemen joined the Receiving Party and all became guests of Mr. and Mrs. Strudwick for the rest of the evening.

As to the number entertained, the affair takes first place for the week, and none of the private entertainments of this pleasant winter has been more enjoyed. Mrs. Strudwick is charmingly popular, and of course, all who could possibly do so responded promptly to her invitations.

There was, of course, special preparation for guests in the way of floral decoration—consisting of Bridesmaid roses, fern, mimosa, and pink carnations. In a variety of other graceful ways, pleasant interest in the pleasure of the company was evident.

The receiving party consisted of Mrs. Edmund Strudwick, who wore white brocaded satin and amethyst, violets; Mrs. Thomas H. Miller, pink brocaded satin; Miss Elizabeth Taylor, yellow satin; Misses Mary Gilliam, Marian Robins, Dorothy Meade Burwell, Carrington, Slaughter, May Newton, Emily Addison, Evelyn Gordon, Rogers, Cooke, Nancy Atkins, Norwood, Foster, Quacher, Gray, Lee, Perkins, Coleman, Gregory, Cannon, Glasgow, De Treville, Tatum, Weddell, Ryland, Anna Merrill, Ellerson, Annie Smith and others.

Miss Little Pleasant will entertain a party of thirty-five at cards on Monday evening, in honor of her guests, Misses Fairchild and Curtis.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. James Parker entertained at an informal dinner Madames Ashton Starke, C. E. Buck, Josiah Ryland, Donnan, and Richmond Pearson, Miss Reynolds of Fredericksburg, and Miss Helen Cameron, of Petersburg.

The Whist Class, of which Mrs. Isadore White is president, held a pleasant meeting yesterday afternoon at Miss Helen Stringfellow's. There were present Mrs. White, Mrs. Hartley Carmichael, Mrs. Do B. Keim, Mrs. Keith, Miss Guillaume, Miss Helen Montague, and Miss Virginia Pleasant.

Several prominent Richmond women are making energetic preparation for a loan exhibition, to be held early in the spring, for the Virginia Historical Society. It promises, even thus early, to be exceptionally interesting.

At 2 o'clock on Friday, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington entertained twelve friends at the home of Mrs. A. Oldfield Brown, of New York, who is a niece of Major Glinter, and his wife. By all odds, the affair is one of the first in point of elegance among the similar functions for the winter. The varied details—decoration, menu, and service—all entitle it to charming distinction. The centerpiece was filled with Easter lilies. Stylized was pending from the handwork, according to the four-day calendar, phase, two at each end of the table. White shades, hung with violets, were used, and bouquets of violets stood in vases upon the table. Violet china was used, and the after was distinctly a violet luncheon. The menu cards each bore some sentiment taken from Miss Magruder's "Story of the Violet," and a Gibson drawing, with the name of the host. After the meal, there was over a logical puzzle prepared by clever and charming Mrs. Carrington, diverted the guests, a prize being offered to the one giving the greatest number of correct answers.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful "Violet Calendar." Certainly it is no wonder that those composing the little party are enthusiastic about Mrs. Carrington's preparation for them, for her ears showed herself in delightful ways. Those present were Mrs. M. A. C. E. Buck, Mrs. Charles V. Carrington, Mrs. Stewart Hume, Fred Scott, Allan Potts, W. James Walker, Austin Brockenbrough, John Skelton Williams, Adolphus Blair, Thomas Scott, Graham Bruce Hobson, and Edgar Strong Freeman.

The questions were printed upon a long sheet of paper, headed: "This is a droll love story, taken from the leaves of a droll journal. Her name was Violet." The answer to such questions was the name of a flower. Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Mrs. W. James Walker, and Mrs. Graham Hobson cut for the prize, Mrs. Potts winning. It is really beautiful